Goneral Butler and Admiral Porter continue to reap all the benefit of sdvance advertising they can get to boom their forthcoming books. Yesterday was Porter's day. To-day General Butler will come back at the Admiral, repeating all his charges

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 WASHINGTON, May 7 .- Admiral Porter is preparing a review of his movement at the taking of New Orleans, to show that he didn't run away. Although General Butler was also deeply immersed in books and papers, preparing to "fire a broadside" at Porter, he had time to lean back in his chair, chew his substitute for tobacco furiously, and clinch his allegation of Porter's cowardice. In explanation of his speech at the Boston banquet, wherein the accusation was originally made, the General said: "That speech was written four or five days before the day on which it was delivered. and copies of it were sent to the various morning newspapers in Boston. Those papers did not report my speech; they set it up from the slips furnished them. The statements made by me were neither new nor unsupported, as Porter will find out before he gets through with this matter. Now I want to show you the true condition of affairs which prevailed below New Orleans just previous to and at the time of its capture."

A SURPRISING ENOWLEDGE. The General then traced out on a coast survey map the various naval and military movements, and showed an accurate acquaintance of detail which was almost surprising. He was thoroughly familiar with ocations and dates, and seems to have that scrap of United States history at the tip of his tongue. When he had concluded an ex-haustive summary he pushed the map aside

"The difference between Porter and my-self is easily seen, and the public ought not to get its mental powers shaken up by over-thought. I say that Porter ran away down the river because he was scared by that great floating dock, the Louisians—a hulk that had no machinery, and was unable to move of her own volition. I say that he warned my troops to get away as fast as possible, because the rebels were after them, and he set us an example, which we did not follow, by taking the lead. This charge doesn't rest on the unsupported testimony of any one man. Parton, who is credited with being a careful historian, says on page 247 of his book: 'General Butler in New Orleans-Captain Porter's fleet was COMING RAPIDLY DOWN THE RIVER, propelled by a report that the celebrated ram Manassas was after them.' Why, Por-ter himself has never denied that. He adwart rish be shells. The passage of the forts had been accomplished, and after that morning he never fired a shell.

"Another excuse he gives for that hasty trip down the river is that he was on his way round to the rear of the forts. Now, what on earth, or on water, was he going to do there? The nearest point to which he could bring his mortar fleet was eight miles from the forts and the intervening distance was a dense forest. Did he propose to shell the works that he could not see by the aid of mortars that hadn't enough range to do much more than a third of the distance? Tut, tup. What a foolish liar he is.

CREDIT TO WHOM IT IS DUE. "I want to give Porter credit for having done a great deal. He generally obeyed or-ders, but he did run away. He is, I understand, engaged in preparing a full explana-tion of this matter. I hope he is. When he does, then it will be time enough for me to make a reply. If he doesn't put his foot in preparation of his coming paper.

PORTER'S LATEST DEFENSE. Admiral Porter in his last interview pro-

him on the part he took in the battle of New Orleans, and said: "That does not look as though I was running away, does it? The rebels never charged me with giving away an inch, and we certainly should have heard from them if they had succeeded in scaring us off, even if it was only for a little while. Here is a statement from Colonel Higgins, who commanded the terts our mortars were pounding at,"and the Admiral read a letter from Colonel Higgins reciting the terrible damage done to the fort by the

"How was all the damage done if we ran away?" continued the Admiral. 'It is all nonsense to say we forsook our duty even for an hour. The forts surren-dered to me, and Butler knows it. His position is untenable and he never would have attacked me had he been sober. That speech of his was a drunken speech, you know. I'll give him enough of a reply, however, and I'll fire it at him for the next three weeks and then he will let me alone for five years. I shall not hear any more from him during my life time, for I do not expect to live another five years. I suppose he was celebrating his capture of New Orleans. He claims it, I understand, although the city was in possession of the marine corps for fully three days before Butler and his troops got there. I know that, because I towed them up to -The friends of the three Bald Knobber The friends of the three Bald Knobbers who were condemned to hang in the Ozark, Mo., jail Friday have made their last appeal to Governor Francis. All the newspapers and nearly all the leading citizens of the southwestern part of the State have joined in asking the Governor for commutation. The two Walkers, father and son, have not shown the least agitation at the approach of death and have told their friends that they would rather be executed than spend their natural lives in prison.

—An altercation occurred yesterday morning in the Michigan Central dining car Detroit, east of the Buffalo depot, between Thomas Smith, a cook, and Josh Johnson, a waiter, both colored. Johnson spilled a cup of coffee into a pan of potatoes that were being cooked by Smith. After some hard words had passed Johnson threw a butter dish at Smith, badly cutting his fingers, when Smith drew a revolver and fired at Johnson, causing a probably fatal wound in the back of the left car. The dwelling house of Watson Bownes, at West Chester, N. Y., was destroyed by fire about 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and five persons were burned to death. The household consisted of Watson Bownes, his wife, his mother, Mrs. T. B. Bownes, and two children and two servants. Just how the fire started is not known, but it is supposed that a lamp which was left burning in the hall exploded and started the flames. Those who perished in the flames were Mr. Bownes' mother, the two children and Kate and Annie Dunn, two servants. Mr. and Mrs. Bownes were also badly burned, the latter possibly fatally.

—A number of Uniou veterans in Charleston, S. C., have applied for a charter for the organization of a post of the Grand Army of the Hepublic. One of the veterans said: "We do not want carpet baggers. We are South Carolinians now, having earned the title by living here for 20 years. We simply desire, as all true Carolinians do, to keep up pleasant memories of the past and our devotion to the Union. The war is over; in fact, has been over for nearly a quarter of a century, and there is no animosity in any true soldier's heart, Confederate or Federal. The flag of our country is the flag of all of us, and we all propose to stand by it, Federals and Confederates."

-Reports of the destruction by forest fires continue to come in from Northern Minnesota. The fires are still raging in all directions, but in many localities they have burned themselves out. They have attacked the heavy pine woods in many piaces, and the loss of timber will be immense. All trainmen on roads leading into Duluth, Minn., tell of the long lines of fire passed through. The greatest loss is in the destruction of railroad ties, telegraph poles and cordwood. Several hundred thousand ties and thousands of cords of wood have been burned. So far news has been received of the destruction of a dozen buildings, three near Barnum, and others in Wisconsin.

—A fatal explosion occurred near Ashland ram Manassas was after them. Why, Porter himself has never denied that. He adnits it. Attempting to smooth it over somewhat, he says he was towing his mortar vessels down for a supply of shells. There was no necessity for it. Four or five steamers were below, ready at any time to bring him all the shells we had. Besides, what did he were repaged in drilling holes in the rock for the purpose of blasting, one of the drills struck some dynamite which had falled to explode in a previous blast, and an explosion immediately a previous blast, and an explosion immediately followed. ### A FOOLHARDY SAILOR.

Captain Norton to Sail for France is a 30-Foot Craft. NEW YORK, May 7 .- Captain Francis L. Norton, of the Norton Construction and Ship Building Company, of New York and New Jersey, has built a handsome little yacht of the non-sinkable, uncapsizable kind, invented by himself, to be exhibited at the Paris Exposihimself, to be exhibited at the Paris exposi-tion. The tiny craft will set out to-morrow from Tompkinsville, S. I., on its transatlantic voyage, with a crew of only two men. One of the crew is Captain Josiah W. Lawlor, of Bos-ton, whose father D. J. "He is as surely murdered as he lives. Either he or I will be held up to the excertation of the people of these United States, and I assure you I don't fear the consequences."

General Butler expects within a few days to have his attack on Admiral Porter completed. It's evident that he made his charge with clear foresight as to the consequences, with clear foresight as to the consequences.

LATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

His Friends Firm in the Belief That He Was

CHICAGO, May 7 .- There is nothing particularly new or startling in the Dr. Cronin mystery to-day. The doctor is simply still mystery to-day. The doctor is simply still unaccounted for. Mr. and Mrs. Conklin, with whom the doctor lived, are still very much perturbed about the affair. A reporter found them to-day to be even more excited than they were yesterday. When he entered the room Mrs. Conklin was pacing up and down the room, talking incoherently. At last she stopped in front of the reporter and said rather fiercely and with compressed lips: "We know that Dr. Cronin was murdered."

CRONIN IS STILL MISSING.

"That is a pretty broad statement," said "I know it is, and I comprehend the gravity of it, but when I say it I mean all that the words imply. We know that Dr. Cronin was murdered, for we have received Cronin was murdered, for we have received positive information to that effect."

Mr. Conklin then said: "All that my wife has said is true. We have the information, and have it from a most reliable source. If you knew as much as I do about the inside workings of the plots of the gang against the doctor's life you would be bewildered and astounded. We are on the track of the villains, and I have hired detectives to bunt up the clews I am in possession of. There is going to be a big surprise—" s going to be a big surprise —"
He was cut short at this point by an admonition from his wife to the effect that too much had already been said, and all efforts to secure any further statements about the matter were fruitless. Some Lively Mail Matter. CHICAGO, May 7 .- The mail clerk on the Burlington and Council Bluff division of the "Q" was treated to a scare Saturday. While the train was going at the rate of 30 miles an hour a black snake 42 inches long rawled out of a mail bag and showed fight.

It was promptly dispatched. The reptile had come from a paste-board box. The box was addressed to Miss Smith, Galifornia, Iowa, and was mailed in Kansas.

BABY ONE SOLID RASH,

Ugly, painful, blotched, malicious. No rest by day, no peace by night. Doctors and all remedies failed. Tried Cuticura Remedies. Effect marvellous. Complete cure in five weeks. Saved his life.

Our oldest child, now 6 years of age, when an infant 6 months old was attacked with a virulent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician, who attempted to cure it; but it spread with almost incredible rapidity, until the tower portion of the little fellow's person from the middle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, blotched, and malimiddle of his back down to his knees, was one solid rash, ugly, painful, biotoched, and malicious. We had no rest at night, no peace by day. Finally, we were advised to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was wrought, leaving the little fellow's person as white and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion, your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, no repetition of the disease having ever occurred.

Blotches and Scabs from Head to Feet. Blotches and Scabs from Head to Feet.

My boy, aged 9 years, has been troubled all his life with a very bad humor, which appeared all over his body in small red blotches, with a dry white scab on them. Last year he was worse than ever, being covered with scabs from the top of his head to his feet, and continually growing worse, although he had been treated by two physiciaus. As a last resort, I determined to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and am happy to say they did all that I could wish. Using them according to directions, the humor rapidly disappeared, leaving the skin fair and smooth, and performing a thorough care. The CUTICURA REMEDIES are all you claim for them. They are worth their weight in gold to any one troubled as my boy was.

I Would Have Been Dead.

Said Mr. Henry Robertson, "bad I kept on in the way I was going. I had chronic bronchitis and a weakness of my left lung that was fast approaching consumption. I coughed and had great pressure and tightness across my lungs, with pain about my shoulder blades. My appetite was very poor, and I had sour beithing of gas from my stomach all the time. I doctored with the best dectors I could hear of, but was fast getting worse. My kidneys also became diseased. I had pain across my back, bloating of the bowels, and the water was highly colored with a red, brick dust sediment. I became melancholy and discouraged and thought I could not live. Finally I began treatment with the physicians of the Polypathic Medical and Surgical Institute, who are specialists for chronic diseases, and although confined to the bed when I commenced treatment, and am 60 vears old, my improvement was very rapid, and I feel that these physicians have saved my life. I am getting stronger every day and feel almost like a young man again.

KAUFMANNS' MAGNETIC METHODS

Are Being Purloined and Pirated by Jealous Rivals.

but success slips through the fingers of imitators. The public knows that it is the unapproachable and matchless opportunities presented by Kaufmanns' that causes their puny, self-asserted rivals to squirm, squeal and scowl. To demonstrate how futile it is for chagrined competitors to successfully emulate our methods we have just placed on sale the following unexampled two bargains:

Men's Fine Dress Suits, The Suits are made simeres, Worsteds,

Cheviots, Cork-

screws, Wide and

Narrow Wales, Tri-

cots, Serges, Yacht

interwoven plaids, styles, made and custom work, while the fit is perfection ?

itself.

Suits, Worth Don't confound this offer with the stereotyped phrase of "Suits for so much, worth so much," so frequently indulged in by the Pittsburg clothiers. There is no imagination or fiction about this sale. It's a straight, downright, bona-fide offer.

But call and see for yourself. You'll find these suits in sack and frock styles,

in fine all-wool materials; make and fit being first-class.
